G.O. No. 1250, Revenue, dated 14th August 1923.

II

Letter from G. W. WELLS, Esq., M.A., I.C.S., Collector of South Kanara, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, dated Camp Buntwal, the 12th August 1923, Ref. C. No. 4295/23-V7.

In continuation of my report, dated 9th August 1923, R.O.C. No. 4295-V7-23, I have the honour to state that I have received a report from the Deputy Tahsildar of Beltangadi which shows that heavy floods occurred on the 7th August. The damage is reported to be eight houses collapsed in Beltangadi Kasba and nine houses in Guruvainkere, the latter owing to the breaching of the Venur Road, which formed the Eastern bund of the Guruvainkere tank. The total damage to houses, paddy fields and areca gardens is estimated at Rs. 7,000. So far as the Deputy Tahsildar could ascertain, no human lives have been lost, though some cattle are said to have perished.

The occupants of ten houses who have become destitute are being fed and have been accommodated in the old Deputy Tahsildar's office building and the old sub-jail cells. Some of the shopkeepers are said to have raised the prices of food-grains and to have been warned by the Deputy Tahsildar.

Venur-Karkal taluk.—I have had no report from the Tahsildar but I learn from a letter from Mr. K. Sadasiva Bhat, President, Karkal Taluk Board that Puchamogar Bridge between Mudabidri and Buntwal, and Venur Bridge between Mudabidri and Guruvainkere and several minor footbridges have been washed away, while many houses have been destroyed in Venur, Maroor and other villages. This has been corroborated by people who have come to Buntwal. No further particulars are available.

Uppinangadi.—I went to Puttur from Buntwal yesterday morning, 11th, and went on to Uppinangadi in the afternoon. The major or Kasba portion of this town lies between two rivers, the Netravati and the Kumaradari which join a little beyond the Sangama temple. I have already submitted a copy of the Stationary Deputy Tahsildar's report and what I saw myself confirms it. In the Kasba portion which consists of two main streets of shops, dwelling houses and public buildings practically all except about a dozen buildings have either collapsed or must fall. The temple stands, also the hospital, the police station and the tile factory of Mr. Purushotham Bhat. The latter told me that on the night of the floods, he sheltered 800 people in his factory and that he had 200 there at the time of my visit. The Deputy Tahsildar puts the first figure at six or seven hundred. The number of persons rendered homeless by the floods is estimated at 700 to 1,000, of whom about 250 were said to be still in the place when I went there, and 120 to 150 to have been sheltered in Puttur which is seven miles away. I could not trace the rest. The Divisional Officer of Puttur, who had been held up at Mangalore while returning from Kasargod, reached Puttur late on the night of the 11th and I saw him before I left Puttur this morning.

A Relief Committee, consisting of the chief officials and non-officials of Puttur, has already been formed and expects to have to feed about 150 of the poorer people till the end of September. Rice is available in Uppinangadi and Puttur.

As for neighbouring villages, I was informed that Hirebandady and Bajathur have each lost about fifty houses, while Biliyur, Perne, Maninalkur, Mundaji, Hathiadka and Kotrapadi were said to have suffered, though no particulars were available.

The rebuilding of Uppinangadi and Buntwal, the means by which the residents will have to be helped to rebuild them and the sites to be selected—the present sites of both having been proved to be highly dangerous—are problems which will have to be settled later.

Buntwal.—I returned here to-day. The District Board and Police officers are working towards Buntwal from Mangalore. The one motor bus in Buntwal is taking passengers out to the first breach on the road a few miles away and a few boats, secured with some difficulty, are also conveying them there. About 175 persons have been removed in this manner to-day, while Police Sergeant Bailey has been moving backwards and forwards with the boats or the bus. The Secretary of the Mangalore municipality reached here to-day with a gang of coolies and began the removal of the dead bodies of cattle from the debris and the District Health Officer has been here for some days. The first great need is to get these carcasses removed and to see that spoilt rice is not taken out and eaten by villagers who have been coming in to get it. I have asked the District Superintendent of Police for some extra police to patrol the streets, exclude strangers and prevent thieving from the ruins, and they are also needed to reinforce the police at Panemangalore, who are insufficient.

Besides the people who left the town to-day, a large number have already left in the last few days and I hope that the evacuation of all but the necessary minimum will now proceed regularly.

I expect to be returning to Mangalore on the 14th, as I am wanted there in connexion with a meeting regarding relief and I hope that by that time the work of evacuation and removal of dead cattle, etc., will be in good progress.

In the Kasba portion which consists of two main streets of shops, dwelling houses and public buildings practically all except about a dozen buildings have either collapsed or must fall. The temple stands, also the hospital, the police station and the tile factory of Mr. Purushotham Bhat. The latter told me that on the night of the floods, he sheltered 800 people in his factory and that he had 200 there at the time of my visit. The Deputy Tahsildar puts the first figure at six or seven hundred. The number of persons rendered homeless by the floods is estimated at 700 to 1,000, of whom about 250 were said to be still in the place when I went there, and 120 to 150 to have been sheltered in Puttur which is seven miles away. I could not trace the rest. The Divisional Officer of Puttur, who had been held up at Mangalore while returning from Kasargod, reached Puttur late on the night of the 11th and I saw him before I left Puttur this morning.

A Relief Committee, consisting of the chief officials and non-officials of Puttur, has already been formed and expects to have to feed about 150 of the poorer people till the end of September. Rice is available in Uppinangadi and Puttur.

As for neighbouring villages, I was informed that Hirebandady and Bajathur have each lost about fifty houses, while Biliyur, Perne, Maninalkur, Mundaji, Hathiadka and Kotrapadi were said to have suffered, though no particulars were available.

The rebuilding of Uppinangadi and Buntwal, the means by which the residents will have to be helped to rebuild them and the sites to be selected—the present sites of both having been proved to be highly dangerous—are problems which will have to be settled later.

Buntwal.—I returned here to-day. The District Board and Police officers are working towards Buntwal from Mangalore. The one motor bus in Buntwal is taking passengers out to the first breach on the road a few miles away and a few boats, secured with some difficulty, are also conveying them there. About 175 persons have been removed in this manner to-day, while Police Sergeant Bailey has been moving backwards and forwards with the boats or the bus. The Secretary of the Mangalore municipality reached here to-day with a gang of coolies and began the removal of the dead bodies of cattle from the debris and the District Health Officer has been here for some days. The first great need is to get these carcasses removed and to see that spoilt rice is not taken out and eaten by villagers who have been coming in to get it. I have asked the District Superintendent of Police for some extra police to patrol the streets, exclude strangers and prevent thieving from the ruins, and they are also needed to reinforce the police at Panemangalore, who are insufficient.

Besides the people who left the town to-day, a large number have already left in the last few days and I hope that the evacuation of all but the necessary minimum will now proceed regularly.

I expect to be returning to Mangalore on the 14th, as I am wanted there in connexion with a meeting regarding relief and I hope that by that time the work of evacuation and removal of dead cattle, etc., will be in good progress.

Letter from G. W. WELLS, Esq., M.A., I.C.S., Collector of South Kanara, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, dated Camp Buntwal, the 12th August 1923, Ref. C. No. 4295/23-V7.

In continuation of my report, dated 9th August 1923, R.O.C. No. 4295-V7-23, I have the honour to state that I have received a report from the Deputy Tahsildar of Beltangadi which shows that heavy floods occurred on the 7th August. The damage is reported to be eight houses collapsed in Beltangadi Kasba and nine houses in Guruvainkere, the latter owing to the breaching of the Venur Road, which formed the Eastern bund of the Guruvainkere tank. So far as the Deputy Tahsildar could ascertain, no human lives have been lost, though some cattle are said to have perished.

The occupants of ten houses who have become destitute are being fed and have been accommodated in the old Deputy Tahsildar's office building and the old sub-jail cells. Some of the shopkeepers are said to have raised the prices of food-grains and to have been warned by the Deputy Tahsildar.

Venur-Karkal taluk.—I have had no report from the Tahsildar but I learn from a letter from Mr. K. Sadasiva Bhat, President, Karkal Taluk Board that Puchamogar Bridge between Mudabidri and Buntwal, and Venur Bridge between Mudabidri and Guruvainkere and several minor footbridges have been washed away, while many houses have been destroyed in Venur, Maroor and other villages. This has been corroborated by people who have come to Buntwal. No further particulars are available.

Uppinangadi.—I went to Puttur from Buntwal yesterday morning, 11th, and went on to Uppinangadi in the afternoon. The major or Kasba portion of this town lies between two rivers, the Netravati and the Kumaradari which join a little beyond the Sangama temple. In the Kasba portion which consists of two main streets of shops, dwelling houses and public buildings practically all except about a dozen buildings have either collapsed or must fall. The temple stands, also the hospital, the police station and the tile factory of Mr. Purushotham Bhat. No. 4295-V7-23, I have the honour to state that I have received a report from the Deputy Tahsildar of Beltangadi which shows that heavy floods occurred on the 7th August. The damage is reported to be eight houses collapsed in Beltangadi Kasba and nine houses in Guruvainkere, the latter owing to the breaching of the Venur Road, which formed the Eastern bund of the Guruvainkere tank. So far as the Deputy Tahsildar could ascertain, no human lives have been lost, though some cattle are said to have perished.

The occupants of ten houses who have become destitute are being fed and have been accommodated in the old Deputy Tahsildar's office building and the old sub-jail cells. Some of the shopkeepers are said to have raised the prices of food-grains and to have been warned by the Deputy Tahsildar.

Venur-Karkal taluk.—I have had no report from the Tahsildar but I learn from a letter from Mr. K. Sadasiva Bhat, President, Karkal Taluk Board that Puchamogar Bridge between Mudabidri and Buntwal, and Venur Bridge between Mudabidri and Guruvainkere and several minor footbridges have been washed away, while many houses have been destroyed in Venur, Maroor and other villages. This has been corroborated by people who have come to Buntwal. No further particulars are available.

Uppinangadi.—I went to Puttur from Buntwal yesterday morning, 11th, and went on to Uppinangadi in the afternoon. The major or Kasba portion of this town lies between two rivers, the Netravati and the Kumaradari which join a little beyond the Sangama temple. In the Kasba portion which consists of two main streets of shops, dwelling houses and public buildings practically all except about a dozen buildings have either collapsed or must fall. The temple stands, also the hospital, the police station and the tile factory of Mr. Purushotham Bhat. The latter told me that on the night of the floods, he sheltered 800 people in his factory and that he had 200 there at the time of my visit. The Deputy Tahsildar puts the first figure at six or seven hundred. The number of persons rendered homeless by the floods is estimated at 700 to 1,000, of whom about 250 were said to be still in the place when I went there, and 120 to 150 to have been sheltered in Puttur which is seven miles away. I could not trace the rest. The Divisional Officer of Puttur, who had been held up at Mangalore while returning from Kasargod, reached Puttur late on the night of the 11th and I saw him before I left Puttur this morning.

A Relief Committee, consisting of the chief officials and non-officials of Puttur, has already been formed and expects to have to feed about 150 of the poorer people till the end of September. Rice is available in Uppinangadi and Puttur.

As for neighbouring villages, I was informed that Hirebandady and Bajathur have each lost about fifty houses, while Biliyur, Perne, Maninalkur, Mundaji, Hathiadka and Kotrapadi were said to have suffered, though no particulars were available.

The rebuilding of Uppinangadi and Buntwal, the means by which the residents will have to be helped to rebuild them and the sites to be selected—the present sites of both having been proved to be highly dangerous—are problems which will have to be settled later.

Buntwal.—I returned here to-day. The District Board and Police officers are working towards Buntwal from Mangalore. The one motor bus in Buntwal is taking passengers out to the first breach on the road a few miles away and a few boats, secured with some difficulty, are also conveying them there. About 175 persons have been removed in this manner to-day, while Police Sergeant Bailey has been moving backwards and forwards with the boats or the bus. The Secretary of the Mangalore municipality reached here to-day with a gang of coolies and began the removal of the dead bodies of cattle from the debris and the District Health Officer has been here for some days. The first great need is to get these carcasses removed and to see that spoilt rice is not taken out and eaten by villagers who have been coming in to get it. I have asked the District Superintendent of Police for some extra police to patrol the streets, exclude strangers and prevent thieving from the ruins, and they are also needed to reinforce the police at Panemangalore, who are insufficient.

Besides the people who left the town to-day, a large number have already left in the last few days and I hope that the evacuation of all but the necessary minimum will now proceed regularly.

I expect to be returning to Mangalore on the 14th, as I am wanted there in connexion with a meeting regarding relief and I hope that by that time the work of evacuation and removal of dead cattle, etc., will be in good progress.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE SECRETARIAT.

(a) If a paper is marked to be printed urgently, the Superintendent of the section concerned should sign the Press slip. The Superintendent should exercise a careful discretion in the matter.

(b) Each letter, memorandum, or order or set of orders, in the file of correspondence should be headed in succession with the Roman numeral I, II, III, etc., the number being written in red ink or blue chalk above the item. The particular papers to be printed in the special issue-copies should be indicated by the Roman numeral (I, II, etc.) by which that item has been headed in the correspondence file. All matter, including marginal remarks or references, to be printed should be written in ink and matter which should not be printed should be encircled. Initials and signatures that are not quite legible should be re-written distinctly.

(*b*1) For rules regarding printing of notes, see rule 315 of the office Manual.

(c) The number of copies and the details of distribution should be filled in by the Superintendent or Referencer concerned.

(d) In the absence of special instructions to the Press to keep matter standing for a specified period, ordinary papers of 8 pages and under will be kept standing for one week, and larger papers for two weeks only. The type of notes and of all confidential papers is distributed immediately after striking.

(e) This slip, properly and completely filled in, should accompany every paper sent to Press; it will be returned by the Press when proofs are furnished; it should be sent to the Press when a call is made for revised proofs or when a corrected proof is sent for striking. When finally returned by Press it should be filed with the original order or letter.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PRESS.

(a) If, in the opinion of the Superintendent of the Press, a paper has been marked urgent unnecessarily, he should send the Press slip to the Registrar with a remark to that effect.

(b) Unless a note to the contrary is made against the matter, pencil entries should not be printed. The Superintendent of the Press may bring to the notice of the Registrar any instance of incomplete or careless editing.

(c) Signature copies of letters to the Secretary of State or to the Government of India should be printed on hand-made paper.

(d) This slip should be returned by the Press to the Secretariat when proofs are furnished; it will be sent back to the Press when proofs are returned corrected and should be finally returned to the Secretariat when struck-off copies are supplied.

(e) The names of the Secretary and Members should be printed in full when they occur on the right hand side, only the first time when they appear on the left side, the initials alone being printed later.
